- ensure that issues raised by the external auditors have been satisfactorily resolved; and
- review the external auditors' internal control recommendations, and ensure appropriate action has been taken.

G. Appointment and termination

- Consider recommendation on the appointment, resignation/termination of Director, Company Secretary and auditors;
- Consider recommendation and approval of Directors to fill the seats on Board Committees;
- Review and assess annually:
 - the required mix of skills and experience of the Board, including the core competencies, which Non-Executive Directors should bring to the Board; and
 - the effectiveness of the Board as a whole, the Committees of the Board and the contribution of each individual Director.
- Review and approve the recommendations from the NRC, remuneration packages of the Executive Director and recommend fees and emoluments of Non-Executive Directors for shareholders' approval at Annual General Meeting.

This appears a formidable list of duties. However, some of these matters need only be looked at annually or semi-annually. Many of them will be presented to the Board in the form of management reports. However, Directors should ensure that:

- these reports are read;
- any issues of concern arising from these reports are queried; and
- problems identified are dealt with in an appropriate manner.

- (c) The Managing Director/ Executive Directors of operations shall be responsible to decide the appropriate discretionary authority limit for Management on operational and capital investment transactions in the ordinary course of conducting business. Expenditure Authorisation Requests are to be accompanied by appropriate supporting business and financial data to support its viability. - (d) The purpose of setting Discretionary Authority Limits is to facilitate empowerment of employees for faster decision making. Substance over form, the Management must consistently monitor abnormal expenses or items that are procured at unreasonably high prices. Transactions costing more than 5% of the departmental monthly expenses fall into such category.
